Section I: Steps Taken to Apply the Presumption of Openness

The guiding principle underlying the President's FOIA Memorandum and the Attorney General's FOIA Guidelines is the presumption of openness.

Describe the steps your agency has taken to ensure that the presumption of openness is being applied to all decisions involving the FOIA. To do so, you should answer the questions listed below and then include any additional information you would like to describe how your agency is working to apply the presumption of openness.

1. Did your agency hold an agency FOIA conference, or otherwise conduct training during this reporting period?

The RRB is a small, independent agency in the Executive Branch of the Federal government. As the RRB's General Counsel/Chief FOIA Officer, I am responsible for the RRB's overall FOIA program. I have made certain that all FOIA staff are properly trained concerning the President's FOIA memorandum and the Attorney General's FOIA guidelines and are responsible in carrying out those responsibilities as they respond to all FOIA requests.

Did your FOIA professionals attend any FOIA training, such as that provided by the Department of Justice?

The agency has a small number of staff with direct FOIA responsibilities. All of the training provided from the Office of Information Policy (OIP) incorporated the principles of the President's FOIA Memorandum and the Attorney General's FOIA Guidelines. In 2011, FOIA staff completed Basic Records Operation training from the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) and FOIA training by the American Society of Access Professionals (ASAP). Additional E-Discovery training was provided by the U.S. Attorney's Office, Department of Justice. No additional training was attended in 2012.

In his 2009 FOIA Guidelines, the Attorney General strongly encouraged agencies to make discretionary releases of information even when the information might be technically exempt from disclosure under the FOIA. OIP encourages agencies to make such discretionary releases whenever there is no foreseeable harm from release.

2. Did your agency make any discretionary releases of otherwise exempt information?

The number of full grants to requests has continued to increase since FY 2007 to the present, i.e., from 34 in FY 2007 to 77 in FY 2012. In FY 2008, the agency released 48 full grants and 5 partial grants. In FY 2009, the agency released 55 full grants and 15 partial grants. In FY 2010, the agency released 62 full grants and 4 partial grants. In FY 2011, the agency released 77 full grants and 3 partial grants. In 2012, the agency released 68 full grants and 7 partial grants. The RRB did make discretionary releases during FY 2012. However, due to the nature of the records requested, as well as the small number of FOIA requests that are received by the agency, only a small number were made. However, the RRB makes it a policy to make discretionary releases whenever possible.

3. What exemptions would have covered the information that was released as a matter of discretion?

Generally, when there is a possibility of a discretionary release can be made by the RRB, exemption (b)(5) applies.

4. Provide a narrative description, or some examples of, the types of information that your agency released as a matter of discretion.

An example of a discretionary release by the RRB last year was a release of certain travel records for the RRB's headquarters and field office locations.

5. Describe any other initiatives undertaken by your agency to ensure that the presumption of openness is being applied.

FOIA staff review all records that are responsive to a particular FOIA request. When there is a possibility of making a discretionary release, they consult with the agency's General Counsel/ Chief FOIA Officer.

Section II: Steps Taken to Ensure that Your Agency Has an Effective System in Place for Responding to Requests

As the Attorney General emphasized in his FOIA Guidelines, "[a]pplication of the proper disclosure standard is only one part of ensuring transparency. Open government requires not just a presumption of disclosure, but also an effective system for responding to FOIA requests."

This section should include a discussion of how your agency has addressed the key roles played by the broad spectrum of agency personnel who work with FOIA professionals in responding to requests, including, in particular, steps taken to ensure that FOIA professionals have sufficient IT support.

Describe here the steps your agency has taken to ensure that its system for responding to requests is effective and efficient. To do so, answer the questions below and then include any additional information that you would like to describe how your agency ensures that your FOIA system is efficient and effective.

1. Do FOIA professionals within your agency have sufficient IT support?

Yes. We continue to monitor and assess our information technology to ensure that FOIA professionals have sufficient information technology support to perform their required functions.

2. Do your FOIA professionals work with your agency's Open Government Team?

Yes.

3. Has your agency assessed whether adequate staffing is being devoted to FOIA administration.

Because the RRB receives so few FOIA requests per year, it currently has one main FOIA Officer. If the number or complexity of the FOIA requests significantly increased, the need for additional staffing would become readily apparent. At this time, the staffing level meets the agency's needs.

4. Describe any other steps your agency has undertaken to ensure that your FOIA system operates efficiently and effectively, such as conducting self-assessments to find greater efficiencies, improving search processes, streamlining consultations, eliminating redundancy, etc.

We periodically review our entire FOIA processing system to identify any improvements and efficiencies which can be made.

Section III: Steps Taken to Increase Proactive Disclosures

Both the President and Attorney General focused on the need for agencies to work proactively to post information online without waiting for individual requests to be received.

Describe here the steps your agency has taken both to increase the amount of material that is available on your agency website, and the usability of such information, including providing examples of proactive disclosures that have been made during this past reporting period (i.e., from March 2011 to March 2012). In doing so, answer the questions listed below and describe any additional steps taken by your agency to make and improve proactive disclosures of information.

1. Provide examples of material that your agency has posted this past year.

The RRB annually updates its website to include current actuarial, statistical, and financial information concerning active and retired railroad employees.

We continue to monitor FOIA webpage content to make sure it remains timely and consistent with current law. FOIA staff have the responsibility and authority to update the RRB website as necessary. The website offers access to copies of the agency's procedure manuals, final decisions of the three-member Board which heads the agency, rulings of the Board and legal opinions. Other information is available to the public without filing a FOIA request in the Federal Register and the RRB Group Information Locator System (GILS) website. An example of additional material provided since the issuance of the new FOIA Guidelines include a more comprehensive list of the agency's procedural manuals. Additionally, five data sets of statistical information have been added to the RRB's Open Government Initiative located at <http://www.rrb.gov/open/default.asp>.

High-Value Data Sets

The RRB identified and published online in an open format five high-value data sets and registered those data sets via Data.gov. Going forward, the RRB will consider existing published data for conversion to open format for publication to Data.gov.

High Value Information and Data Set Inventory

The RRB High-Value Information and Data Set Inventory details the underlying data sets that are in an open format and accessible directly via Data.gov.

In accordance with Section 3506(d) of the Paperwork Reduction Act and Section 515 of Public Law 106-554 the RRB has developed a procedure to allow one to seek and obtain correction of certain information RRB maintains and disseminates. Procedures to seek correction of information under section 515 do not replace other established procedures for challenges to disseminated information. Challenges to information disseminated in the course of rulemaking should be made through the channels established for that purpose.

Many of the records posted on the agency website were created specifically to be made available to the public, such as press releases, reports, and other RRB-produced material. Many of the records online have traditionally been widely disseminated by the agency.

2. Beyond posting new material, is your agency taking steps to make posted information more useful to the public, especially to the community of individuals who regularly access your agency's website such as soliciting feedback on the content and presentation of the posted material, improving search capabilities on the site, creating mobile applications, providing explanatory material, etc?

Yes. See "Spotlight on Success" below.

3. If so, provide examples of such improvements.

The RRB now provides a video library for railroad employers and benefit online services, such as online application filing, for railroad employees.

4. Describe any other steps taken to increase proactive disclosures at your agency.

The RRB plans to digitize, index and catalog 258 binders of Legal Opinions maintained in the Board's Office of General Counsel so they are electronically retrievable by Board staff and the public through www.rrb.gov, including attorneys, claimants, railroad employers, etc.

Section IV: Steps Taken to Greater Utilize Technology

A key component of the President's FOIA Memorandum was the direction to "use modern technology to inform citizens about what is known and done by their Government." In addition to using the internet to make proactive disclosures, agencies should also be exploring ways to utilize technology in responding to requests. In 2010 and 2011, agencies reported widespread use of technology in handling FOIA requests. For 2012, the questions have been further refined and now also address different, more innovative aspects of technology use.

Electronic receipt of FOIA requests:

1. Can FOIA requests be made electronically to your agency?

The RRB receives requests electronically via mail, fax and email through its E-FOIA system created by the RRB's Bureau of Information Services.

2013 Chief FOIA Officer Report for the U.S. Railroad Retirement Board

844 North Rush Street TTY: (312) 751-4701
Chicago Illinois, 60611-2092 Web: <http://www.rrb.gov>

2. If your agency is decentralized, can FOIA requests be made electronically to all components of your agency?

RRB's FOIA operations are centralized in the RRB's headquarters location. The RRB officials who have primary responsibility for the administration of program areas are located at RRB Headquarters in Chicago, Illinois. Numerous programs, however, are administered at the local level through 12 Networks, headed by Network Managers who oversee the operation of all RRB program areas in their jurisdiction. RRB's primary FOIA operation is located in the FOIA Requester Service Center located within the Office of General Counsel (OGC). The OGC is comprised of eight attorneys (a General Counsel, two Assistant General Counsels, and 5 staff attorneys), two paralegal specialists, and four administrative support personnel. One General Attorney is primarily responsible for reviewing incoming FOIA requests, providing the requestor with an acknowledgment of the request, determining whether documents are likely to be located at Headquarters, and either initiating a search at RRB Headquarters' program offices or refer the request to a Network Manager, or non-Headquarters program-specific office, as appropriate. The General Attorney is also responsible for reviewing the program office's recommendation concerning the releasability of documents, redacting material subject to FOIA exemptions, and preparing a draft response letter to the requester for the General Counsel/Chief FOIA Officer. Two additional General Attorney's have secondary responsibility to provide back-up assistance to the primary General Attorney for FOIA requests. The four support staff personnel at Headquarters are responsible for logging in the average 100 or so FOIA requests received at Headquarters annually, including inputting pertinent information into an electronic tracking system. Support staff also perform ancillary functions, such as filing, record archiving, and time and attendance.

Online tracking of FOIA requests:

3. Can a FOIA requester track the status of his/her request electronically?

No. This option is not currently available to a requester.

4. If so, describe the information that is provided to the requester through the tracking system. For example, some tracking systems might tell the requester whether the request is "open" or "closed," while others will provide further details to the requester throughout the course of the processing, such as "search commenced" or "documents currently in review." List the specific types of information that are available through your agency tracking system.

Not applicable.

5. In particular, does your agency tracking system provide the requester with an estimated date of completion for his or her request.

No.

6. If your agency does not provide online tracking of requests, is your agency taking steps to establish this capability?

Yes.

Use of technology to facilitate processing of requests:

7. Beyond using technology to redact documents, is your agency taking steps to utilize more advanced technology to facilitate overall FOIA efficiency, such as improving record search capabilities, utilizing document sharing platforms for consultations and referrals, or employing software that can sort and de-duplicate documents?

Currently, the RRB does not use technology to process requests. Due to the average number of requests received within a given year, currently around 100, the RRB has determined that utilizing an electronic system for responding to requests is unnecessary at this time. We will continue to evaluate this option. However, to the extent practical and subject to valid restrictions, the RRB will continue to use its website to disseminate useful information, rather than waiting for specific requests under FOIA.

The RRB plans to purchase an eFOIA software product to automate FOIA and Privacy Act processing before the end of this fiscal year.

8. If so, describe the technological improvements being made.

As stated above in question 7, the RRB plans to purchase an eFOIA software product to automate FOIA and Privacy Act processing before the end of this fiscal year.

Section V: Steps Taken to Improve Timeliness in Responding to Requests and Reduce Backlogs

The President and the Attorney General have emphasized the importance of improving timeliness in responding to requests. This section addresses both time limits and backlog reduction. Backlog reduction is measured both in terms of numbers of backlogged requests or appeals and by looking at whether agencies closed their ten oldest requests and appeals. For the figures required in this Section, please use those contained in the specified sections of your agency's 2012 Annual FOIA Report.

1. Section VII.A of your agency's Annual FOIA Report, entitled "FOIA Requests – Response Time for All Processed Requests," includes figures that show your agency's average response times for processed requests. For agencies utilizing a multi-track system to process requests, there is a category for "simple" requests, which are those requests that are placed in the agency's fastest (non-expedited) track, based on the low volume and/or simplicity of the records requested. If your agency does not utilize a separate track for processing simple requests, answer the question below using the figure provided in your report for your non-expedited requests.

- a. Does your agency utilize a separate track for simple requests?

No.

- b. If so, for your agency overall, for Fiscal Year 2012, was the average number of days to process simple requests twenty working days or fewer?

Not applicable.

- c. If your agency does not track simple requests separately, was the average number of days to process non-expedited requests twenty working days or fewer?

No. The average number of days to process non-expedited requests was 23.13 days.

2. Sections XII.D.(2) and XII.E.(2) of your agency's Annual FOIA Report, entitled "Comparison of Numbers of Requests/Appeals from Previous and Current Annual Report – Backlogged Requests/Appeals," show the numbers of any backlog of pending requests or pending appeals from Fiscal Year 2011 as compared to Fiscal Year 2010. You should refer to those numbers when completing this section of your Chief FOIA Officer Report. In addition, Section VII.E, entitled "Pending Requests – Ten Oldest Pending Requests," and Section VI.C.(5), entitled "Ten Oldest Pending Administrative Appeals," from both Fiscal Year 2011 and Fiscal Year 2012 should be used for this section.

- a. If your agency had a backlog of requests at the close of Fiscal Year 2012, did that backlog decrease as compared with Fiscal Year 2011?

The number of backlogged requests from FY 2011 to FY 2012 decreased to zero backlogged requests at the end of the fiscal year.

- b. If your agency had a backlog of administrative appeals in Fiscal Year 2012, did that backlog decrease as compared to Fiscal Year 2011?

The number of backlogged appeals remained at zero for FY 2011 and FY 2012.

- c. In Fiscal Year 2012, did your agency close the ten oldest requests that were pending as of the end of Fiscal Year 2011?

Yes. No pending perfected requests remained at the end of FY 2012.

- d. In Fiscal Year 2012, did your agency close the ten oldest administrative appeals that were pending as of the end of Fiscal Year 2011?

No administrative appeals were pending as of the end of Fiscal 2011.

3. If you answered "no" to any of the above questions, describe why that has occurred. In doing so, answer the following questions then include any additional explanation:

Request Backlog:

- a. Was the lack of a reduction in the request backlog a result of an increase in the number of incoming requests?

Not applicable.

- b. Was the lack of a reduction in the request backlog caused by a loss of staff?

Not applicable.

- c. Was the lack of a reduction in the request backlog caused by an increase in the complexity of the requests received?

Not applicable.

- d. What other causes, if any, contributed to the lack of a decrease in the request backlog?

Not applicable.

4. OIP has issued guidance encouraging agencies to make interim releases whenever they are working on requests that involve a voluminous amount of material or require searches in multiple locations. By providing rolling releases to requesters agencies facilitate access to the requested information. If your agency had a backlog in Fiscal Year 2012, please provide an estimate of the number of cases in the backlog where a substantive, interim response was provided during the fiscal year, even though the request was not finally closed.

Use of FOIA's Law Enforcement "Exclusions"

In order to increase transparency regarding the use of the FOIA's statutory law enforcement exclusions, which authorize agencies under certain exceptional circumstances to "treat the records as not subject to the requirements of [the FOIA]," 5 U.S.C. § 552(c)(1), (2), (3), please answer the following questions:

1. Did your agency invoke a statutory exclusion during Fiscal Year 2012?

No.

2. If so, what is the total number of times exclusions were invoked?

Not applicable.

Spotlight on Success

Out of all the activities undertaken by your agency since March 2011 to increase transparency and improve FOIA administration, describe here one success story that you would like to highlight as emblematic of your agency's efforts.

Flagship Initiative - Customer Satisfaction Web-Based Survey

The Railroad Retirement Board began participating in a customer satisfaction survey of visitors to the agency's website. The survey specifically measures the visitors' perception of "Online Transparency" among other things. Unlike previous surveys the agency has conducted at a single point in time, this survey will be ongoing for at least a year. Each month, the survey questions can be adjusted to obtain customer feedback on potential enhancements thus providing a vehicle for customer participation. Each quarter we will receive an analytical report which will help us determine which website improvements will yield the greatest return on satisfaction and on our investment. This approach will also allow us to determine the importance of website elements to our customers—based on their input—so we can make informed decisions about website improvements and other online investments. The ability to adjust both the survey and the website along the way provides an ongoing measure of improved transparency and effectiveness. Depending on the level of public participation, funding availability, and the RRB's ability to respond to the feedback, we will consider extending the survey for another year or more, and/or obtaining additional analytical services to further improve website performance and openness, and ultimately efficiency and effectiveness of operations, as well as customer satisfaction.

Overall Nature of RRB's FOIA Operations

In the 1930's, Congress established the RRB as an independent agency in the executive branch of the federal government. The primary duty of the RRB is to administer retirement/survivor and unemployment/sickness insurance benefit programs under the Railroad Retirement Act and the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act. These programs provide income protection during old age and in the event of disability, death or temporary unemployment and sickness. The RRB also administers aspects of the Medicare program and has administrative responsibilities under the Social Security Act and the Internal Revenue Code.

During fiscal year 2012, retirement-survivor benefits of some $11.3 billion were paid to about 573,000 beneficiaries, while net unemployment-sickness benefits of $89 million, including almost $7 million in temporary extended unemployment benefits under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 and subsequent reauthorizing legislation were paid to more than 26,000 claimants. At the end of fiscal year 2012, the average annuity paid to retired rail employees was some $2,370 a month, spouse benefits averaged $880 a month, and benefits for aged widow(er)s averaged $1,425 a month. The maximum biweekly rate for unemployment and sickness benefits was $660. The RRB staff currently includes approximately 950 employees as of December 31, 2012. The agency's headquarters is located at 844 North Rush Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611-2092 and the agency has 53 field offices nationwide. The agency's small size and concise mission result in on average around 100 FOIA requests annually. In 2005, the RRB launched a redesigned website (www.rrb.gov) that is more user-friendly and makes publicly available many of the categories of documents that used to result in FOIA requests.

Internet availability of these documents has reduced the number of FOIA requests. This allows us to focus on the remaining requests, which tend to be somewhat more complex. Information available from the RRB under the FOIA includes the agency's procedure manuals, final decisions of the three-member Board which heads the agency, rulings of the Board and legal opinions. Legal opinions since 1997 and Board Coverage Decisions are periodically posted to the RRB web site and available without a request under the Freedom of Information Act.

Because the RRB administers a comprehensive program of railroad retirement, unemployment, and sickness benefits for railroad workers, it also maintains information about individuals which may not be disclosed in response to a FOIA request. The Railroad Retirement Act, the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act, and the Privacy Act restrict the disclosure of information about individuals. If a request is made for information about an individual, as a general rule, the requester must provide the RRB a written authorization signed by the individual who is the subject of that record.

RRB's FOIA operations are centralized in the RRB's headquarters location. The RRB officials who have primary responsibility for the administration of program areas are located at RRB Headquarters in Chicago, Illinois. Numerous programs, however, are administered at the local level through 12 Networks, headed by Network Managers who oversee the operation of all RRB program areas in their jurisdiction. RRB's primary FOIA operation is located in the FOIA Requester Service Center located within the Office of General Counsel (OGC). The OGC is comprised of eight attorneys (a General Counsel, two Assistant General Counsels, and 5 staff attorneys), two paralegal specialists, and four administrative support personnel. One General Attorney is primarily responsible for reviewing incoming FOIA requests, providing the requestor with an acknowledgment of the request, determining whether documents are likely to be located at Headquarters, and either initiating a search at RRB Headquarters' program offices or refer the request to a Network Manager, or non-Headquarters program-specific office, as appropriate. The General Attorney is also responsible for reviewing the program office's recommendation concerning the releasability of documents, redacting material subject to FOIA exemptions, and preparing a draft response letter to the requester for the General Counsel/Chief FOIA Officer. Two additional General Attorney's have secondary responsibility to provide back-up assistance to the primary General Attorney for FOIA requests. The four support staff personnel at Headquarters are responsible for logging in the average 100 or so FOIA requests received at Headquarters annually, including inputting pertinent information into an electronic tracking system. Support staff also perform ancillary functions, such as filing, record archiving, and time and attendance.

The Headquarters primary FOIA attorney handles all legal issues related to Headquarters FOIA requests, including researching and reviewing issues related to the applicability of exemptions, resolving fee waiver determinations, deciding requests for news media status, and responding to questions from Headquarters program staff. The primary FOIA attorney is responsible for resolving all issues that arise within Headquarters regarding responsiveness and adequacy of search by Headquarters offices. In addition, the Headquarters FOIA legal staff serves in an advisory role to the over 53 decentralized RRB offices, responding to challenging questions on processing, applicability of exemptions, interpretation of the FOIA, and the handling of non-routine FOIA requests. The Headquarters FOIA attorneys are also responsible for supervising the Headquarters FOIA Specialist processing staff, including the review and editing of all of the approximately 100 plus FOIA response letters sent by Headquarters annually. All FOIA responses are signed by the General Counsel/Chief FOIA Officer of the OGC. Supervisory duties performed by one attorney in the Headquarters FOIA Requester Service Center include assignment of cases to the FOIA attorneys, preparation of performance appraisals, progress reviews and all other personnel functions related to supervision of the non-attorneys in the FOIA Requester Service Center.

RRB's FOIA operations outside of Headquarters are administered or supervised by OGC. Each Network Manager has responsibility to forward all FOIA requests related to documents physically located within either the Network Office or district field offices within the Network Manager's jurisdiction.

It should also be noted that due to the independent nature of the RRB's Office of Inspector General (OIG), handling and reporting statistics concerning FOIA requests received by that office, is the responsibility of the OIG. However, those statistics are reflected herein for purposes of this report.

As the designated Chief FOIA Officer for the RRB, I am pleased to submit this report. This report is directed to ensuring that the RRB's administration of the FOIA is not only, at a minimum, in compliance with the law and the policies set forth in the President's Memorandum, but also that the RRB strives to continuously improve its FOIA operations and exceed the expectations of its FOIA requesters.
